New Design Asoka Pillar Notes—1950 Issue.

We enclose for your information and guidance a copy of the Press Communique dated the 9th January 1950 giving a description of the various denominations of new design Asoka Pillar Bank notes. These notes will be issued to the public from the 26th January 1950.

PRESS COMMUNIQUE.

The Reserve Bank of India will issue from the 26th January 1950, a new series of Bank notes of all denominations with India's distinctive design of the Asoka Pillar which has been approved by the Central Government under Section 25 of the Reserve Bank of India Act (II of 1934). The existing notes will, however, continue to be legal tender.

A description of the new notes is given below for the information of the public:—

Two Rupees—This is an entirely new design, the size being $4\frac{1}{2}'' \times 2\frac{1}{2}''$ as at present.

Front.—On the left is a blank panel, generally rectangular in shape with a plain double-line border, in which appears the Asoka Pillar watermark. On the right, and enclosed within an irregular-shaped oval panel of white lines and floral decoration is a representation of the Asoka Pillar capital against a shaded background. The serial number of the note appears in black beneath this panel. The centre of the note is headed by the words Reserve Bank of India in white set in curved, shaded panel followed by the usual promise to pay underneath, with the signature of the Governor of the Reserve Bank of India. The value in both English and Hindi appears in large white shaded letters in the centre of the note and the figure 2 in Arabic and Hindi characters appears in the top-left and top-right hand corners of the note, respectively. The border of the note consists of an indented double line with fine geometrical work inside. The main design of the note is printed in red-brown with rainbow tints of blue-green, purple, orange, blue-green and olive-green.

Back.—On the right is a blank watermark panel bordered by curved double lines and floral work. On the left is a circular panel containing a representation of a tiger's head against a shaded background. Below this panel appear the words Two Rupees in large white shaded letters. The centre is headed by the words Reserve Bank of India in white set in a curved shaded panel and immediately below and superimposed on a guilloche, appears the value in Urdu, Hindi, Bengali, Telugu, Tamil, Kanarese, Gujarati and Oriya. Centrally placed at the foot of the note is the Reserve Bank of India Seal with floral supports. The figure 2 in Hindi and Arabic numerals appears in the top-left and top-right hand corners of the note, respectively. The border of the note consists of an indented double line with fine geometrical work inside. The main design is printed in red-brown with rainbow tints of orange, olive-green and purple.

Rupees Five.—The new design is very similar to that of the current note, the chief modifications being as follows:—

Front.—The blank panel on the left carries the Asoka Pillar watermark while the corresponding panel on the right carries a representation of the Asoka Pillar capital against a shaded background. The purple tint of the present note is replaced by an orange tint and the whole note appears somewhat bolder as the result of the use of slightly heavier colours.

Back.—The brown and blue tint colours are transposed, the latter now appearing at the top of the note and the former at the bottom. The value in Oriya script has been added.

Rupees Ten.—The new design is similar to that of the current note, the chief modifications being as follows:—

Front.—The blank panel on the left carries the Asoka Pillar watermark while the corresponding panel on the right carries a representation of the Asoka Pillar capital against a shaded background. The wording of the promise to pay in the centre of the note has been re-arranged slightly in order to allow the signature of the Governor of the Reserve Bank of India to appear directly beneath it, the panel at the left hand bottom corner now being filled with the word Rupee superimposed on the figure 10 against a geometrical background. The tint colours in the centre of the note have been modified, the most noticeable change being the replacement of the prominent orange tint by blue. The prefix and serial number are printed in black.

—The only changes are a re-arrangement of the colours and the addition of the value in Oriya is One Hundred.—This is an entirely new design, being 6½" X 4½", as at present.

—On the left is a blank panel of irregular shape, of a floral border with a vignette which contains the Reserve Bank watermark. On the right is a panel of similar design containing a representation of the Asoka Pillar against a shaded background. At the head of the note and connecting these two panels is a curved panel containing the words Reserve Bank of India in bold, shaded letters. Underneath comes the usual promise to pay any line tints the words One Hundred Rupees, which are printed in a special panel of geometrical work, also old, shaded, white letters. Immediately below the left panel and the corresponding panel on the right, white lines run right across the note, the space between the lines being occupied by the signature of the Governor of the Reserve Bank of India in the centre with the serial number of the note printed in black on either side. The border of the note consists of an indented double line of fine geometrical work inside. The whole design is printed upon wavy line tint work of oval shape which covers all the four edges of the note. The main design of the note is printed in blue with rainbow tints of mauve, green, blue, blue-grey, blue-green, orange and green. Designs of this denomination have had the circle of the Reserve Bank on them but this is omitted from the new design, necessary identification being done by reference to the serial number of which separate allotments will be made to the Treasury Office.

—On the right is the blank watermark panel with a floral border of continuous beading. On the left a panel contains the Reserve Bank seal superimposed on a floral work on either side, containing the value in floral design. Between these two head panels the words Reserve Bank of India in bold white letters are printed in a curve.
